DEFECTIVE Tires

The Pennsylvania state legislature, at its session last week, signed by Governor James, will become effective on September 1, providing severe penalties for anyone who operates a car on the highway without a license. This new law provides that "it shall be unlawful for any person to operate a vehicle on any highway with the front sheath, breaker strip, cushion grom or fabric." When a state highway trooper or other police officer makes a motorist stop, there are two hours after the driver will have 45 hours to replace the faulty tires with good ones. If he fails to do so, the law provides him $100 a day until he has five days in jail—Alabama Journals.

ROAD DEATHS EXCEED THOSE IN 1940

Surface motor travel was nearly 96 times as deadly in Alabama last year as air travel, according to accident statistics figure made public last week by the State Department of Health, showing that automobile accidents were responsible for 628 deaths in 1938, as compared with only seven attributed to airplane accidents.

Collision between automobiles and railroad trains, presumably at grade crossings, resulted in 32 deaths. A person was killed in a collision between an automobile and a street car, and 595 deaths were due to automobile accidents not involving either trains or street cars.

All of the 628 deaths were the result of white persons, while 422 of those killed in automobile accidents were white and 206 colored.

Ten victims of automobile accidents were buried in death, four were drowned, five were fatally injured by glass and other means, and 157 died as a result of being crushed in collisions and other types of automobile accidents. The remaining 595 accidents were attributed to one death each. The other 400 deaths were attributed to other types of injuries resulting from automobile accidents.

ALBURN, Ala.—C. J. Lowery, agent of the U. S. Bureau of Economic Research, and his wife, Mrs. Lowery, said this week that 26 one-vote cotton committees had applied for the free classing services of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Of the 100 others have indicated their desire for the service which allows growers belonging to one-vote associations to get a free classing done.

EXAMINATION FOR JUNIOR PUBLIC SERVICE

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an open competitive examination for the position of Junior Public Service, in the Indian Field Service, Department of the Interior. Applications must be on file in the Commission's office at Washington, D. C., no later than September 11, if received from States east of Colorado, and not later than October 14, if received from Colorado and the Westward. The salary for the position is $1,800 a year.

High school education and certain training time is required for entrance to the examination. Competitors are to be given a written test, followed by practical examinations. Applications must be passed their fortieth birthday. The age limit will not be waived in any case.

Competitors may obtain from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, the post office or customhouse in which they have a post office of the first or second class, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

J. W. Mathews, Lowery's informant, said this week that 275 tons of triple superphosphate had been shipped from the plant to Lowery's office. This material will be used on pasture and winter cover crops. All of this has been obtained under the grant-of-aid plan of the AAA program.

In test in courtesy—it costs little and pays big dividends.

FARMER JONES AND HIS COW PEN

By JUDGE W. M. BRUNSON

STACI POLES—This is about the right time for me to talk about the cutting of stock poles. I have been carrying articles on the subject from time to time in regard to those that have been put up. Some farmers have accepted my advice and others have not. I am convinced by these articles my efforts will not be in vain. The cutting of stock poles is a definite problem for all of us.

I believe that a common oak will stand for many years if you won't let it touch the bottom soil and keep it under a shelter while you are not using it. It will pay well to do this work before saving the timber.

W. M. BRUNSON—I need not say that we are in timber. You need not say that we are in timber if the next generation did not need any of your timber it would be better for you to cut it now. There are some trees that the driver will have 45 hours to replace the faulty tires with good ones. If he fails to do so, the law provides him $100 a day until he has five days in jail—Alabama Journals.
